

PTA™ is a pressure transient analysis and design system crafted through tens of person years of engineering and programming talent. The application is intuitive, yet offers a full-featured pressure transient program.

The graphical data-manipulation features simplified straight-line models as well as the most complex multivariable regression solutions. From the beginning engineer to the full-time tester, PTA performs at the highest levels.

